Madison, Wis., April 19.—The Senate today by a vote of 20 to 6 following a lively debate adopted the Senate Judiciary resolution providing for a constitutional amendment for the recall of all state officers with the exception of the judiciary.

A third resolution increasing the salaries of the members of the legislature from $5,000 to $10,000 was also adopted. These measures will come up before the House next week.

Warm debate on the recall bill commenced when Senator Gaylord of Milwaukee spoke in favor of including the judiciary, feeling his arguments or assertions regarding the integrity of the bench especially in Milwaukee.

These statements aroused the anger of Senator Rudebusch, who wanted the Social Democrats and wished to know what would become of the judiciary of Milwaukee if "half a dozen disreputable political leaders" were given the opportunity to put the recall in operation.

DEDICATED CHAPELS OF BIG CATHEDRAL IN NEW YORK CITY

Two Completed Chapels of Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Thrown Open With Imposing Ceremonies.

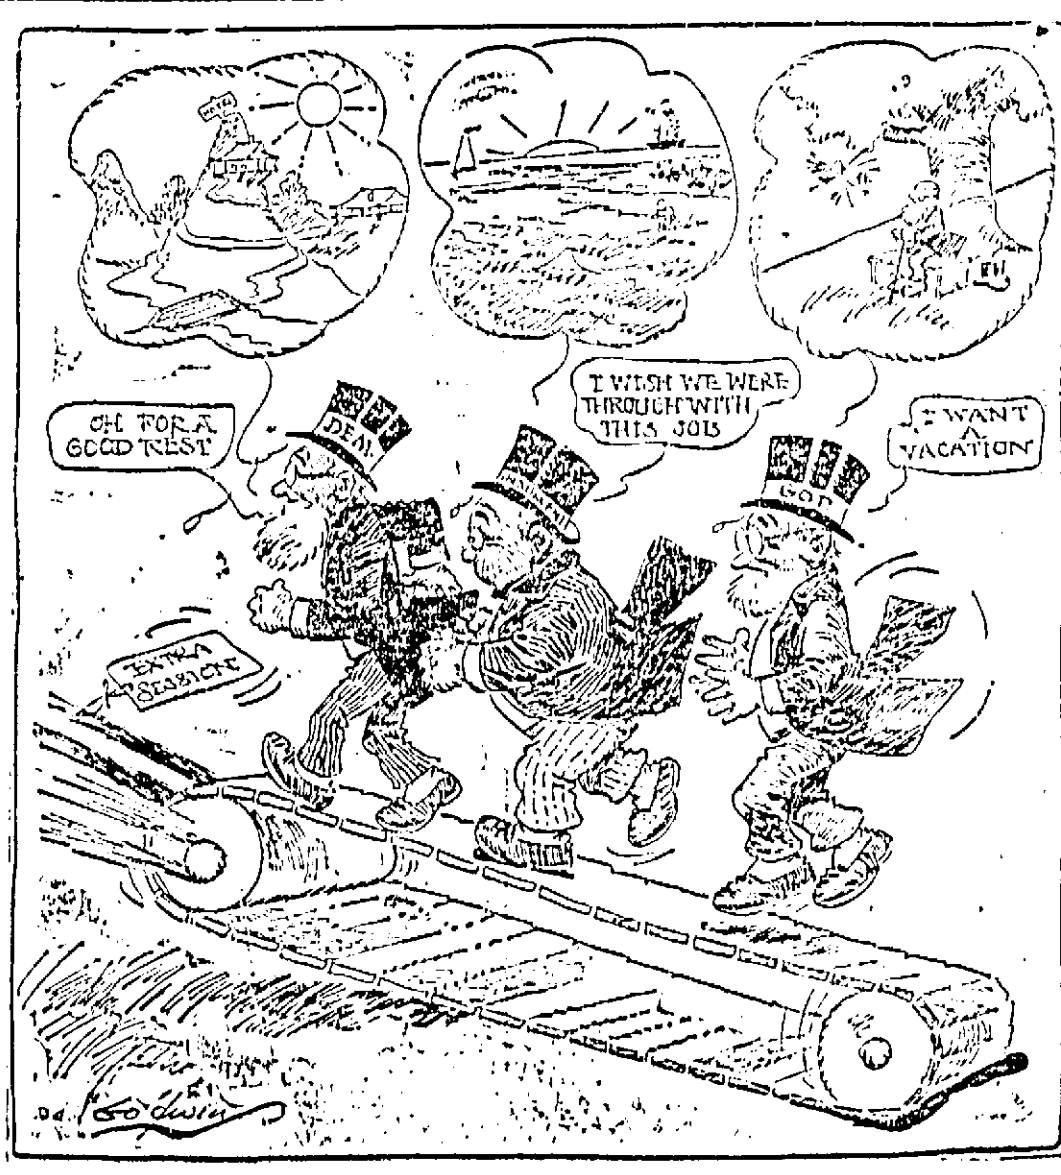

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, April 19.—Many distinguished public men and eminent representatives of nearly all religious denominations joined today with the clergy and laity of the Episcopal church in dedicating the two completed chapels of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the great granite pile rising on Morningside Heights that has long attracted the attention of all visitors to New York.

The ecclesiastical procession which was a feature of that dedication was the most imposing ever seen in the metropolis.

One of the finished chapels dedicated and opened to the public is a gift of August Belmont in memory of his first wife. The other is in memory of Miss Mary King, a gift from her father.

Today's exercises also included the dedication of the choir loft and the organ, which is the largest in America. The cathedral itself has been building for nearly nineteen years, and on it between $5,000,000 and $4,000,000 have been spent thus far.

It is estimated that about thirty years will be required to complete it and the additional expenditures will probably exceed $10,000,000. It is to be the largest and costliest church edifice in the western world.

VETERANS OF 1861 ON PARADE TODAY

Survivors of Seventh New York Regiment Celebrated Fiftieth Anniversary of Departure For the Front.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, April 19.—Four old-fashioned brass cannon which rumbled over the Broadway cobblestones in '61 rumbled again over the pavement of Fifth Avenue today amid the cheers of thousands of spectators.

The occasion was the fiftieth anniversary of the departure of New York's Seventh Regiment for the front, by way of Jersey City, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, at the outbreak of the civil war.

The brass cannon were the regiment's mascot equipment of 12-pounders which on "The March Down Broadway" were cheered by thousands of flag-bearing citizens all the way from the Seventh Regiment Armory to the foot of Cortlandt Street.

With the historic cannon there was a reproduction of an old-time baggage wagon bearing the legend, "Our Seventh Knows no North, nor South, nor East, nor West, but Only One Whole Union." It was under this banner that the regiment marched down Broadway fifty years ago today.

ATTEMPT YESTERDAY TO REPEAL SEVERAL OF ELECTION LAWS

Socialists and Democrats of Assembly Try To Take Advantage of Absence of Majority of Republicans.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 19.—In the absence of a full membership of the republican majority, the democrats and social democrats in the assembly yesterday afternoon made an unsuccessful effort to secure the repeal of the law requiring candidates at the primaries to receive 25 per cent of their qualified party vote before they may qualify as nominees, otherwise known as the "twenty per cent law." Incidentally, they also made an equally abortive attempt to defeat the passage of the second choice primary or "Mary Ann" bill, which is one of the most important of the republican platform measures, repeals the 20 per cent feature and substitutes 10 per cent, which the opponents of the bill still declared was too high, and after the defeat of their repeal amendment they sought to slip in a 5 per cent amendment, but were stopped by objection, the bill being up for passage.

This seventh hour action was the result of the first alliance at this session between the democrats and social democrats, both of whom have suffered as a party from the old 20 per cent law. They were aided by Speaker Ingram and Messrs. Hull, Reader and Thomas. The last two named are generally regarded as conservatives or "stalwarts" except as to their promise to support La Follette for senator. Speaker Ingram and Hull both opposed the 20 per cent bill two years ago.

The final vote on the measure was 48 to 37 for passage, many of the republicans who favor it being absent. Thomas and Reader were the only republicans opposing the bill as a whole, and Long, democrat, said that although he had been opposed to the percentage feature he nevertheless believed in the second choice principle and voted.

A hot fight developed over the Hoyt senate bill providing that city and town health officers shall attend semi-annual conferences with the state board of health in Madison for the purpose of gaining knowledge as to the most modern methods of disinfecting after an infectious disease. The former members generally opposed the measure on the ground that it would simply give an opportunity for a "grand junket" and the expenses would have to be borne by the various town boards and city councils. The democrats generally also fought the bill, but it finally was advanced by a vote of 46 to 38. The fight will be renewed when it comes up for final passage.

The expected happened in the case of the bill to make Madison dry and also one mile of territory around each county agricultural and state normal school. The substitute amendments rejected by the committee for one mile and five-mile dry zones respectively, which had been rejected by the committee, were again offered and the bill went over for two days under the rules. A motion to suspend the rules was lost, 38 to 47, and the latter figure is considered to represent somewhere near the probable vote that finally will be had on the measure.

Senator Finley's bill relating to the prevention and control of dangerous communicable diseases was ordered to third reading in the assembly. Concurrence was recommended by the assembly committee with Messrs. Parkinson and Berg dissenting.

WOMEN SUFFRAGE ADVOCATES SPOKE

AT ANNUAL LADIES' NIGHT BANQUET OF TWILIGHT CLUB LAST EVENING.

STRONG ARGUMENTS GIVEN

Why the Women of the Nation Should Vote, by Mrs. Sophie Gudden of Oakshosh and Miss Mary McDowell of Chicago.

In spite of the inclemency of the weather there was a large attendance at the annual banquet of the Twilight club to the ladies, which was held at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last evening. There were four long tables the length of the room with the speakers' table on the right in the front. The decorations were very pleasing and consisted of a string of Chinese lanterns hung above each table for the electric wiring of which the club was indebted to P. H. Korst, and for the lanterns to P. W. Woolworth. Red carnations and potted plants adorned the table and the entire effect was brilliant and attractive. At each place there was a booklet program for the evening on the outside of which was printed a ballot for a vote on the matter of women's suffrage. The entire arrangements for the evening were excellent in every detail and much credit was due to the committee in charge.

It was shortly before seven o'clock, after singing two verses of America, when the guests were seated at the banquet board and the elaborate menu was faithfully served. Throughout the banquet hour the Orpheus Mandolin club favored the diners with a program of popular airs. The menu:

Radishes	Grape Fruit	Pellets
Vent and Sweetbreads in Patty Shells
Escalloped Potatoes	Mint Sherbet
Grosh Pudding
Dorried Eggs	Parker House Rolls
Combination Salad—French Dressing
Wafers	Pimento Cheese Balls
Cake	Brick Ice Cream
Assorted Candies	Coffee
	Salted Nuts

Dr. David Heaton, as toastmaster, presided in his usual pleasing manner with humorous touches, and introduced Mrs. Zou Pearl Park, who sang "Nothing but a Wild Rose," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, and "A Birthday," by Cowen. Mrs. Park lacked none of her usual charm and graciously responded to an encore which the applause of her listeners demanded. Mrs. F. H. Echlin played the accompaniment.

In introducing the first speaker of the evening, Mrs. Sophie Gudden of Oakshosh, Dr. Heaton said that the Twilight club was a representative gathering of Janesville citizens and that no subject was closed to their consideration until it had been settled on the eternal principles of right and truth. Women suffrage was then a matter which could well be discussed and Mrs. Gudden took that theme as the subject for her remarks.

The speaker said in substance: "It has been said that women suffrage is against the spirit of the American constitution, but this document was laid down more than 125 years ago when the incidents of the future could not be foreseen. The constitution says that all men are created free and equal and how can this be true when one half of the people included under this general term are eliminated without the right to vote.

"It is sometimes heard said that the women would sell their votes. This is an unpleasant thing to think of, but I hardly believe that the women would be found to engage in the wholesale bribery that was found to be prevalent in Adams County, Ohio.

"On the other hand the women would vote independently and will take the qualities and principles of candidates into consideration. That this is a fact is shown in places where women have the right of the ballot, where only such men are placed on the ticket who will gain the support of the women voters. The women will scratch the ticket and will not be bound by the petty differences of parties.

"What has been done by the women in states where they have the right to cast their ballots with the men is shown in numerous instances. In Washington state, the initiative and recall measures have been placed in operation through their efforts. In many a city municipal ownership of the public utilities has been brought through the fight of the women voters.

"That the women of the country are as qualified to vote as the male population is hardly to be questioned. There are more women in the schools, in the churches, and in all moral and educational movements than men, and their part in the uplifting of the nation has been large. And yet we find the female population is discriminated against by the laws on our statute books in instance after instance. Age of consent laws, guardianship of children, and factory regulations are some of those which do not treat the women fairly. It is necessary that the woman take her part in the remedy of these evils and to do this she must have the right to vote.

"Sometimes it is weakly argued that because women can't go to war she should not have the ballot. But women pay taxes and engage in many pursuits of the business world and many fields of endeavor even in the many fields of warfare women have taken the foremost rank. They are entitled to take part in the municipal and state housekeeping. There many national such as sanitation and health women as to the men.

"The women suffrage movement is a broad one and has included many of the countries of Europe, some of our states, and has penetrated into Asia and the islands of the sea. There has been a general recognition of the fact that women are becoming the equals of men in many lines of work. It is unjust to say that the mere matter of going to the polls once or twice a year would destroy a woman's motherly instinct or make for her pollution in any way.

"The ballot for women will bring about that state in which justice will be tempered by mercy, and liberty by wise laws, and where men and women will cooperate for the best interests of citizenship and good government."

Following Mrs. Gudden's address Mrs. Park again favored the audience with another solo, "Break, Break, Break" (Tennyson) by Combs, which she sang with more than ordinary expression and the beautiful thought of lines was made more tender and appealing by the artistic touch of her voice.

Miss Mary McDowell of the University settlement work in Chicago, the next speaker, had for her subject, "The Ballot as a Safeguard for Working Women" and she emphasized the need which the ever increasing number of working girls faces in the complications of present day industrial and business life. She said in part:

"The matter of the woman's right to vote is not a woman's question. It is a human question and I believe that it should be so treated. There are at the present time in the industrial world over 5,000,000 girls laboring and encountering the conditions which have been created by the men. The business world today is made by and for men, and yet the women have to work in these conditions which are not adapted to them; they are in it and yet not of it. The working girl has not adjusted her social to her business life.

"Factory and shop women are thrust into a world keyed to man's endurance. And with this condition comes the problem of protecting these girls, but who will do this? Who will look after their moral and physical natures? It is a matter of the race and of the nation.

"It is true that fatigue affects the moral attitude. And when the girls work day after day in the shops with long hours and hard labor, there is over a threatening danger that the 'don't care' attitude which is likely to follow may lead them into moral evils.

"To face the situation in which women come to work according to the standards of men, it is necessary that they should have all safeguards possible and they need the ballot. It is possible to bring the mother instinct into the social, the business, and political life, and it seems to be plainly evident that many of our states have had to much fathering of the wrong sort and could stand a little mothering for a while.

"Are we not coming to the time when men and women will work together not only for their own children, but for all children? When great public questions will be of vital interest to every one.

"Woman's self respect demands the ballot. We are tired of the roundabout way of getting things which will be beneficial to all. They demand that the ballot be furnished in which they can state their needs in a manner which will bring results. It would be surprising how many of the girls in the cities are well posted on the affairs of the day which would do credit with to economists or politicians.

"Women in the industrial and commercial world need the safeguards which men have. They should be encouraged to think about their own interests and act in a far-sighted way for their future benefit which will also work for the uplifting of the race and nation. We cannot have that sentimental chivalry that women should be protected but we should aim to secure strength and protection for ourselves through the power of the ballot."

Last night's meeting concluded the series of gatherings of the Twilight club for the season. It marked the successful close of the fifteenth year and the discussion last evening on the matter of votes for women was the first important consideration that Janesville had given this movement.

It was one of the most successful ladies' night which the club has ever had, nearly four hundred being present.

THEATERS.

Schumann-Helk's Great Versatility.

No greater artist than Mrs. Ernestine Schumann-Helk, the world's premier contralto, could have been chosen as the first operatic star to appear in Janesville, and it is hoped Janesville people will turn out in large numbers to make this grand musical event a real artistic triumph. Orders are coming from the surrounding towns and a number of Holot people, not satisfied with hearing Schumann-Helk once in their own town, are coming here on Tuesday evening, April 25, when she appears at the Myers Theatre.

Mrs. Schumann-Helk seldom talks of her triumphs. She does not need to for the simple reason that there are others eager to save her the trouble. There are no artists before the public today who possess that indefinable something which impresses the music patron and the music critic alike to such an extent as this simple, motherly woman. Mrs. Schumann-Helk is like a wireless apparatus, who gets an immediate response and it is always the same.

According to the Winnipeg Press of March 25 last, "Walking along the street, being delayed for a number of hours at a time in snow bound trains, suffering from an inefficiency of food and all the other disagreeables of a train wreck, had little effect on Mrs. Schumann-Helk, judging from the wonderful voice she was in her last night's recital."

But the great Schumann-Helk is used to the vicissitudes of life. That is one of the secrets of her greatness. She is a living, breathing member of every community she visits and her delight at being one of the assemblage quickly makes itself felt.

COUNTY BOARD IS
DISCUSSING CASE

ATTACK ON SUPERINTENDENT
BARLASS DISCUSSED IN DETAIL THIS AFTERNOON.

PUT OVER WEIRICK MATTER

Question of Settlement Between Former Register of Deeds and County Put Over Until December.

The present session of the county board will prove both interesting and exciting in detail. The first item on the agenda is the case of Superintendent Barlass, who has been charged with the mismanagement of the County Poor House.

Both Mr. Barlass and Dr. Pember, who represented the trustees for the poor house, took the stand in detail. The evidence was heard in detail. The board of control was then called upon to render a verdict. The board of control was then called upon to render a verdict. The board of control was then called upon to render a verdict.

Report of Investigation at Rock County Poor House.

This investigation was brought about by the complaint of John Cunningham, an inmate of the poor house, to Judge F. H. McDaniel, who had been assaulted by the attendant at that institution.

Cunningham had left the poor house two days previous to the investigation and had not returned, but his statement, as sworn to before Judge F. H. McDaniel, is attached to this report.

Several other inmates testified to the assault upon Cunningham, and Attorney McDonald admitted that he had blacked Cunningham's eyes and cut his face with his fist and also that he kicked him two or three times in the back. The assault occurred just as Cunningham was leaving the dining-room and grew out of a controversy about the amount of fish taken by Cunningham at dinner.

McDonald admitted that he called Cunningham a liar first and then punished him in the manner described above because he retorted that McDonald was also a liar.

McDonald claimed that Cunningham was a chronic trouble-maker, always trying to see how far he could go in violating the rules and securing special privileges. The testimony of inmates also indicated that Cunningham was dictatorial and difficult to get along with, but this does not justify the assault made upon him by McDonald, which evinces, on the part of the latter, a lack of the judgment and self control which a person in his position should possess. The evidence shows that on at least one other occasion he threatened an inmate with a beating, which indicates that he considers this a legitimate means of enforcing obedience to the rules.

The testimony shows that on several occasions inmates have been confined in a basement room without furniture, with only a blanket or quilt for a bed, for from one to three or four days, chiefly for going down town without the permission of the superintendent. During the time that they are kept in this room, they are given a slice of bread and a bowl of water three times a day on week days and twice on Sundays. Superintendent Barlass says that they can terminate their confinement at any time that they agree to obey the rules.

This form of punishment savors too much of prison methods and tends to engender on the part of the other inmates, sympathy for the inmate suffering the penalty and ill will toward the superintendent who inflicts it.

The superintendent has some excuse for this rigorous method of punishment in the fact that the institution is made to serve to some extent as a place of confinement. This is an entirely improper use to make of the institution, as a poor house is intended for the aged and infirm and not for inebriates and vagrants.

The proximity to Chicago, as well as the population of the county makes it especially necessary that this county should have a workhouse. The poor house can never be a model institution of its kind while a considerable number of its inmates are of the class who spend only the winter there, and lead a more or less vagrant life in summer.

A. J. FURRY,
DANIEL WOODWARD.

Madison, March 23, 1911.
Mr. D. M. Barlass, Supt.,
Rock County Asylum,
Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sir: The members of this board made an investigation of the Rock County Poor House last Monday as the result of complaints which had been made of the inmates of the poor house, and report that R. McDonald, the attendant at the poor house, admitted that he recently struck one of the inmates in the face several times with his fist, cutting the man's face and blackening his eyes, and that he also kicked him in the back.

The fact that this man was a troublesome inmate and difficult to get along with, which indicates that he considers this a legitimate means of enforcing obedience to the rules.

This board is well aware of the fact that the inmates of such institutions are frequently a very difficult class of people to get along with, but we also know that there are better ways of securing obedience than by corporal punishment or brutal assault. We are of the opinion that the man with more self-control and better judgment to take charge of the poor house under your supervision.

The testimony taken at the investigation shows that you have on several occasions confined inmates of the poor house in a room in the basement without furniture and with only a blanket or quilt for a bed for from one to three or four days, and persons thus confined are given a slice of bread and a bowl of water three times a day on week days and twice on Sunday.

In your own testimony on the subject you say that this is the penalty for going down town without the permission of the superintendent and that the man can terminate his confinement at any time that they agree to obey the rules.

moment at any time by promising to obey the rules. A punishment which is more severe than the offense justifies savors of the spirit of revenge and not only makes the man upon whom it is inflicted bitter and obstinate, but it tends to arouse sympathy for him among the other inmates and generates a spirit of ill will toward the superintendent who inflicts it.

We think that military confinement should only be used as a last resort in a poor house and even the justice should be tempered with mercy and an old man should be given at least one meal a day and a mattress at night.

From the testimony taken at the investigation and from the observation of the members of the board of the inmates of the poor house, we have reason to think that the food served at the poor house is too limited as to quantity and there is not sufficient variety. We hope you will give this matter your personal attention, as well fed people are more likely to be contented people, and are less likely to yearn for stimulants.

Respectfully,
STATE BOARD OF CONTROL,
By W. H. GRAINGER,
President.

In discussing the situation Dr. Pember held the whole trouble at the door of Smith, the inmate from Clinton, who has been the letter writer for the alleged aggrieved inmates. He called him "disagreeable, disgruntled and disreputable." In fact he laid much stress upon his character. Both Mr. Barlass and Dr. Pember explained all the questions at hand and took up the report of the state board of control in detail. They said it was either made through a misunderstanding of the facts or in an attempt to discredit Mr. Barlass. The man who signed the complaint against Mr. Barlass also came in for their share of criticism and their characteristics were fully gone into.

The question of the establishment of the county work house was discussed but nothing definite done as none of the members seemed to fully understand this matter sufficiently to vote upon it. It will probably be referred to a special committee and report made at the next session of the board.

Superintendent Barlass asked that the board take some definite action on the question of the attack upon his management and either vote to uphold him or endorse the action of the state board of control. This led to a considerable discussion, the board upholding the action of endorsing Mr. Barlass and his administration.

At the morning session, called to order at 10:15, the Weirick matter which was yesterday set for special order of business at that time, bobbed up as per the usual custom and brought forth the usual discussion. As a result of about an hour of rather strenuous discussion the board by a close vote decided to lay the matter over until the November session for settlement. The report on the matter was as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Rock County.

Gentlemen:

Your special committee to who was referred the matter of conferring with C. H. Weirick, as to whether a settlement could not be made of the difference existing between Rock County and C. H. Weirick, respectfully report:

That on the 18th day of February this committee and the District Attorney met Mr. Weirick and his attorneys, Mr. G. J. Jeffers and P. C. Harpoe, and that at that time Mr. Weirick submitted a proposition to your committee, which proposition is annexed to and made a part of this report.

That your committee also met and discussed this matter on the 8th day of April, 1911.

The difference between the fees collected and the salary for the eight months in question amounts to $1,278.38. In case a legal action should be instituted against C. H. Weirick, and result favorably to the county the judgment would be for that amount. Against such judgment it would be necessary to set-off the amount recovered by C. H. Weirick as damages occasioned to him by the preliminary injunction in the previous case of Rock County against C. H. Weirick. This amount would be any where from $500 down, as the county gave a bond for $500 at the time of the granting of the injunction. This would leave a balance, in favor of the county, of about $800. Out of this sum we would have to come out of attorney fees. This makes the actual balance which would be received by the county, in the event of a favorable termination very small. On the other hand, in case such legal action should result unfavorably to the county it would leave the way open to C. H. Weirick to recover from the county the difference between the salary he accepted and the fees received for the past six years.

For the reasons above stated your committee respectfully recommends that the proposition submitted by Mr. Weirick be accepted.

Dated April 18, 1911.
SIMON SMITH,
S. B. HEDDLES,
J. C. McEVROY,
Special Committee of County Board.

To Simon Smith,
S. B. Heddles and
J. C. McEvroy,
Special Committee of the Board of Supervisors of Rock County.

Gentlemen:

Referring to the matter of difference between myself and Rock County, on the question of salary, fees and my expenses occasioned by the injunction obtained against me by the county of Rock, I am writing you and conferring with reference to the adjustment of said three matters and you having requested that I make a proposition in writing, I submit to you the following proposition:

I claim that the County Board has never legally changed from the fee system to the salary system. I did not know this until the time of the commencement of the action against me by Rock County, in April, 1910, and prior to this coming to my knowledge, I had drawn the supposed salary for the month of April, being One Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($150.00).

I have collected as fees of the office of Registrar of Deeds since the last time I paid the county twenty-three hundred eighty-four dollars and seventy-three cents ($2,384.73), and there are charges upon the books for fees of one hundred eighty-two dollars and sixty-five cents ($182.65), which would stand the same as cash as between the County and myself, making a total of twenty-five hundred seventy-eight dollars and thirty-eight cents ($2,578.28). My salary account, assuming that there was a salary due for eight months, commencing with May and ending with December, would be twelve hundred dollars ($1,200.00), leaving a difference of thirteen hundred seventy-eight dollars and thirty-eight cents ($1,378.38).

Moved From Vicinity of Janesville,
Village, Located at St.
Johns, Ore.

Wallace Bumgarner and family, who lately moved from the vicinity of Janesville, to make a new home in the west, are now located at St. Johns. This is a town of about 4,000 inhabitants and situated some nine miles from Portland.

The climate there is reported to be very favorable and the fruit trees are in blossom and many of the gardens are up. In a recent letter to an old neighbor, Mr. Bumgarner extols Oregon as the only place to live. He says that about the same as in Janesville, but other things such as groceries, dry goods and furniture, are cheaper, he writes:

"We live in the heart of the city and we have pines, plums, cherries, strawberries, logan berries and other kinds of berries. We are just a block from the Willamette river and can see the big steamships coming and going all day. All the factories burn wood instead of dry black coal."

Mr. Bumgarner was engaged in carpenter work but is employed with a Wisconsin man now. He came here from Cedar Vale, Kansas, fourteen years ago this spring, and has made Janesville and vicinity his home during those fourteen years. He is well known in this part of the country and has many friends who will be glad to know of his welfare in Oregon.

Janesville Chick Feed to be Used at Agricultural Station at Madison.

At the State Agricultural Experimental Farm in Madison the best feed is used in the experiments with chickens, and they are probably in a position to know as much about feeds as any one in the state.

Every manufacturer of poultry and stock feeds in the state is licensed, and once or twice each year, samples are taken from every manufacturer and chemically analyzed. These tests are recorded and published.

Yesterday Helms Seed Store received an unsolicited order from the State Agricultural Experimental Farm for 2000 lbs. of Helms Standard Chick Starter. This amount of feed is probably all that will be used this season. From the fact that the experimental station has on record an analysis of every feed manufactured in the state and are in a position to know which is best, this unsolicited order received by the local firm is considered very flattering indeed.

LAWS OF THE STATE

Jesse J. Bowen Arraigned in Court Today Charged With Hunting
Out of Season.

Charges of hunting out of season were preferred against Jesse J. Bowen of this city in municipal court this morning and through his attorney, William E. Dougherty, entered a plea of not guilty. Bowen was arrested on complaint of Deputy Game Warden Willis P. Mason, who alleges that Bowen violated the game laws of the state in going hunting yesterday. The hearing of the case will be called on Friday afternoon, April 28, at two o'clock, when the work of selecting the jury will be put through. Bowen furnished cash bail of $100 for his appearance in court. The trial proper will probably begin a week from next Saturday.

ANOTHER SPEEDER WAS FINED TODAY

Harvey Sykes Paid Fine of Ten Dollars and Costs for Running Automobile Too Fast on Sunday.

Harvey Sykes, formerly one of the partners in the garage firm of Sykes & Davis of this city, was arraigned in municipal court this morning on a charge of exceeding the speed limit with his automobile Sunday. Sykes admitted his guilt and rather unwillingly paid a fine of $10 and costs or $12.50. Sykes was driving his car down South Main street Sunday afternoon at a pace considerably better than twelve miles an hour. Chief of Police Appleby saw him and ordered him to stop, repeating the order and drove on. In court this morning he said he understood the chief to say "slow down."

Sykes was wearing automobile goggles at the time and it was hard for the chief to identify him, but later proof that it was Sykes who was driving the car was secured and the arrest made. Judge Finckle reprimanded Sykes for his conduct, stating that he was not setting a good example for the young men who are working at the garage.

This is the second speeder that Chief Appleby has brought before the court and the results are already beginning to show, according to the chief. The auto owners are more careful in running their cars and some of the local physicians, who have been tempted at times to go a little faster than the law allows, are in less of a hurry. The vigilance on the part of the police will be maintained and Sunday the "lid" will be screwed down tight, as far as reckless driving is concerned, when an automobile will be furnished the chief by the automobile club to catch all who are violating the law.

COUNTY BOARD IS DISCUSSING CASE

The County is liable to me for damages, including attorney fees, in the injunction suit, which amount as I claim to be greatly in excess of this difference. But, in order to adjust this matter and in pursuance of the suggestion of the members of the Special Committee that I pay back the April salary collected, amounting to one hundred and fifty dollars ($150), I am willing to that in order to get the matter adjusted; so that the settlement would be by my paying one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) and discharging the County from claims for damages by reason of the injunction obtained against me, and the County and myself to make receipts each to the other, discharging each from any claim for salary or fees as Registrar of Deeds. This then will settle the fees which I would be entitled to during the past six years and adjust the whole subject of fees and salary between myself and the County and the damages on the injunction, and the County would receive one hundred and fifty dollars ($150.00) in cash.

C. H. WEIRICK.
Before taking any action on the matter, following the report of the committee, in which they recommended a settlement according to the terms laid down by Mr. Weirick, several of the members desired to hear the district attorney on the subject. While waiting for him, Supervisor Simon Smith moved that the report of the committee be accepted. This motion called forth a variety of opinions by the different members. Supervisor Moore leading the opposition.

Mr. Moore took the stand that the members of the county board were not well enough acquainted with the facts in the case to be willing at this early date, to concede the demands made by Mr. Weirick which were embodied in the report of the committee. In accordance with his unwillingness to bow before the demands of the former register of deeds, and in view of the fact that he thought that the county was being unjustly imposed upon, Mr. Moore moved to amend the motion of Supervisor Smith, and to lay the matter over until the November session of the board.

Mr. Moore said in part, "Mr. Weirick has taken an unfair advantage of the county all the way through and at the same time has been given every consideration possible in the matter. He has been the object of fair treatment, and I for one do not feel like laying down before him and conceding to his demands, unless all are satisfied that we could not do better. There is a matter of about $725.00 involved and if we accept his ultimatum we surrender that to him. It is a matter of standing on our rights and Rock county should take a stand against the intrusion of any individual."

Supervisor Smith who submitted the report took the remarks of Supervisor Moore as a reflection upon the committee and explained that the committee had only done what it was appointed to do and that the proposition of Mr. Weirick was simply a part of the report. District Attorney Dunwiddie when called before the board said that he did not feel justified in advising the board to carry the matter into the courts and while there would be a chance of the county winning the suit, the actual amount gained would not warrant taking the chances of losing the decision. The district attorney had written the attorney general in regard to the matter and his answer did not make him any more willing to advise litigation. It was brought out by the district attorney that there was a similar case pending in Dane county and that much might be learned from the outcome of that controversy.

Mr. Dunwiddie was subjected to quite a cross questioning by several members of the board after which many rose to give their views on the matter. Several were of the opinion that the recommendations of the committee were in themselves sufficient to cause the board to concede to the demands made by Mr. Weirick of a settlement outside of court. Among these were Supervisors Gleason, Heddes, Willford and Cannon.

Mr. Moore again rose to give his reasons for objecting to the peaceful and quiet way of getting out of the trouble and stated that although he was not in favor of seeing the county with a law suit on its hands, he thought that to give in to the proposition laid down by the former register of deeds would be taking an attitude which he could not understand. He said that any individual who would give up $1,100 without fighting for his rights would be considered a coward and a fool.

The outcome of the whole discussion was that the amendment offered by Mr. Moore, to the effect that the matter be laid over for the November session to settle was carried.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

I HEARD something the other day which made me fairly sick at heart with horror and disgust.

A certain married man—I hate to give him that name, but must for purposes of convenience—is going about telling his man friends and generally circulating the story that a young girl, with whom he has been seen a good deal of late, is perpetually chasing him up and beseeching him to take her to dinner, walk to the train with her, etc.

This is the girl's side of the story, which, of course, has not received any such general circulation.

The man has told her how unhappy he is at home, that he is not understood, that she is one of the rare creatures who can understand him, that it is not just because he made the mistake of marrying a woman not suited to him that he should be entirely denied the stimulus and inspiration of her society, that there is no possible harm in her going to dinner with him at a reputable restaurant occasionally or letting him walk to the station with her, and that people who would talk about her as evil minded and not worth noticing.

The girl is at heart a nice little girl, who wants to do what is right and has no real idea of the desolate wilderness into which the primrose path she is treading may lead her.

Of course, she knows in a general way that it is something of which mother would not approve, but mother is not the person who justifies herself that you can't always tell by what she thinks. And then she has been so lonely since her husband has been especially kind to her, and the diversion of his friendship and kindly attentions, the delight of having something to look forward to from day to day, has gradually become very important to her. The wrong is partly glossed over by his specious arguments and partly by her own feelings that she is really of use to him. And for the rest—well, loneliness and overwork are not very good as stimulants of the moral sense.

That she hasn't the vaguest notion of the abominable and utterly unfounded story he is circulating about her goes without saying.

Poor, foolish little girl!

How I wish that you and all your poor foolish little sisters who trust men like this one so blindly might see your true position for a moment!

I think it would mean some pretty sharp, short stops for you and some pretty hard crops for some of the cads if you could.

Of course, you each think that the particular man who is being a platonic friend with you is really and truly to be trusted and holds your honor as dearly as his own.

Listen, girls. Why should this man, who is betraying his wife, the mother of his children, the woman he has every reason to love and honor—and in your heart of hearts you must acknowledge that if you were that wife and you would certainly resent and regard as a betrayal the way he talks and acts to you—why should he be any more faithful and honorable in his treatment of you?

No, you don't think your particular man would be capable of saying that you were running after him.

Perhaps not.

And yet, again, there is the chance that he is saying that or something worse.

Is it a chance that you care to take?

HER RIGHT.

Recently a magistrate in discussing a case said that he had a cook who occasionally "got drunk and made things lively." He said she was a good cook and a good woman only for that fault. He was a little surprised when the cook brought a newspaper to him and demanded that he make an apology and that it be as prominently published as was the original story. The judge did this and did it willingly because the cook he referred to was one he had had years before.

The cook was right in demanding that her employer set her right before the world. As a woman she had her reputation to sustain and her character to uphold. Nothing less than a statement from her employer, as conspicuously displayed as the first story, would have sufficed, albeit the employer had been misquoted.

Any woman who is placed in a false light has a right to demand that she be set right in the eyes of the public. The most sacred thing a woman has is her character and the least suggestion placed upon it destroys her usefulness and her standing. Society will tolerate a man with an unblemished reputation but it has a peculiar method of reasoning which flies it away from the woman who stands accused.

If more women would follow the example set by this humble cook there would be fewer spoiled reputations. Particularly is this true of the woman who must work for her living—especially at domestic work. Some women employers apparently have no qualms in making misleading and untruthful statements about their domestic help. And especially is this true with regard to the domestic's working ability. If a girl decides to leave a place, the mistress for some inscrutable reason seems to be obsessed with the idea that she is at perfect liberty to make detracting statements and to tear the girl's reputation to tatters. The statements may not be true, but the woman feels it is a legitimate way of showing her resentment.

The girl who goes into the home of another to do the mental tasks of the household is a mighty courageous one, for in far too many cases she is treated with discourtesy by every member of the family from the oldest to the youngest.

It is quite apparent that some people believe that the girl who serves them has neither feeling nor sense of respectability. They fail to realize that these patient girls have hearts, hopes and desires just like their more fortunate sisters and that it is only chance that has placed them in this home as servants.

Any girl or woman who works for a living owes it to herself and others who are compelled to work to demand that at all times and under all circumstances she be treated with the utmost respect. When people say or do offensive things to her who has a perfect right to demand an apology and expect to receive it. And in this respect it doesn't make any difference whether she is a three-dollar-a-week kitchen girl or a ten-thousand-dollar-a-year private secretary. She's a woman.

To Women Readers

One woman writes to the Gazette that she does not fully understand what is meant by utilization of remnants from one meal to another. Perhaps others have the same trouble. Just a word of explanation may be advisable at this time.

Take for instance a boiled dinner. There are even beef, boiled potatoes

Food Commonly Served.

The foods that are served every day on our tables are those that should be given the most thought in preparation. Good bread, good coffee, good toast, well cooked vegetables and well cooked meats would keep the family in peace and harmony, do away with many of the divorces and much that makes home life disagreeable.

When mashing potatoes, mash them until all lumps are removed, then beat with a fork until light, adding hot milk, butter and salt for seasoning. When serving, pile the potato lightly into the vegetable dish.

When cooking steak, if a broiler is not used, heat the frying pan smoking hot, rub the pan with a bit of suet, then lay in the steak, turning it often until it is well seared over, then the heat may be lowered or the pan may be set back to cook the meat slower. If liked rare, cook from ten to twelve minutes; if liked well done, it will be necessary to cook it at least twenty.

Let us vary the manner of serving such vegetables as potatoes, onions and cabbage as they are always available the year round, and one tries of the same methods in preparation.

Quick Bread.

Yeast for Quick Bread.—Slice six medium-sized potatoes and cook in enough water to cover; strain the potato water over one tablespoonful of salt and four tablespoonfuls each of flour and sugar. Add a cup of water in which a tablespoonful of hops has been steeped and one quart of cold water; add a dry yeast cake. Let stand over night. Use one to one and a half cups of this yeast for each loaf when setting the bread. Shortening and salt may be added to suit the taste. Mix and knead at once for ten minutes, make into loaves, using as little flour as possible. When well risen bake at once. The bread is improved by a second kneading.

Nellie Maxwell.

The following menus are printed from the May number of the "Woman's Home Companion" with an idea that they may prove useful to the readers of the Gazette.

Three Fruit-Salads.

A simple Banana-Salad is made in this way: Remove one section of skin from each of five small selected bananas. Take out fruit, scrape and cut into small cubes. Cut up one-half cup of other fruit in one-half cup cubes and marinate with a French dressing. Roll skins with cubes and garnish with slices of banana sprinkled generously with paprika. Stack around a mound of crisp lettuce leaves.

Colorado salad. Wash both red and white cherries, remove the stems and stones, and cut in halves lengthwise. Remove the pulp from oranges. Remove the skins from bananas, scrape with a silver knife, cut in one-third-inch slices and cut slices in cubes. Mix the fruit, using an equal quantity of each, and marinate with a French dressing. Serve in nests of crisp lettuce leaves.

To make a delicious orange salad cut three oranges in sections and free from seeds and membranes. Skin and seed white grapes. There should be three-fourths of a cupful. Cut one-third of a cupful of peaches and nuts in pieces. Mix ingredients and arrange on a bed of romaine. Pour over a dressing made as follows: Mix four tablespoonfuls of olive-oil, one tablespoonful of orange-juice, one half tablespoonful of vinegar, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper and one table-spoonful of finely-chopped Roquefort cheese. Garnish salad with strips of red pepper. The dressing served on this salad is improved if allowed to stand in the ice-box for a few hours.

Manhattan Eggs.

Beat onions and rub through a sieve there should be one cupful of onion puree. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add one and one-half table-spoonfuls of flour and stir until well blended; then add onion puree. As soon as the mixture is thoroughly added one third of a cupful of milk to which has been added the slightly beaten yolks of two eggs. Add five hard-boiled eggs, cut in thin slices and season with salt and pepper. Serve very hot if possible, sprinkling with finely-chopped parsley just before sending to the table.

Luncheon Sardines.

Melt four tablespoonfuls of butter, add one third of a cupful of soft state breadcrumbs and stir until well blended; then add one cupful of rich milk. Bring to the boiling point and add two hard-boiled eggs, finely chopped and one small box of sardines freed from bones and separated into small pieces. Again bring to the boiling point and season with salt and pepper and paprika. Serve on pieces of buttered toast and garnish with toast points and parsley if it be at hand. Good for a chafing dish supper.

Milanes Macaroni.

Break macaroni in one inch pieces; there should be one cupful. Cook in boiling salted water to cover until soft, drain and pour over cold water to prevent pieces from adhering. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until well blended; then pour on gradually while stirring constantly, one and one-half cupfuls of scalded milk. Bring to the boiling-point and season with salt and paprika. Reserve one third of a cupful of sauce, adding to it one third of a cupful of cream and minced ham. To remainder add macaroni, and when boiling-point is reached two thirds of a cupful of grated cheese. When cheese has melted turn mixture on a hot serving-dish, pour over ham and garnish with parsley.

Cheese and Cinnamon Toast.

Cheese and Cinnamon Toast makes a delicious luncheon dessert when accompanied with a cupful of chocolate and whipped cream or marshmallows. For the bread dissolve one half yeast cake in one cupful of scalded milk cooled until lukewarm, and add one half cupful of hot mashed potato and one and one fourth cupfuls of flour. Cover and let rise until light; then add one egg, slightly beaten, one third of a cupful of shortening, butter and hard in equal proportions, one third of a cupful of sugar and enough flour to knead. Shape into a loaf, put in buttered cake-pan, cover, and bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes. Let stand twenty-four hours, cut in small slices, remove crusts, toast, spread with softened butter and sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar.

German Luncheon Cake.

Add one third of a cupful of shortening, butter and hard in equal proportions, or use butter, one fourth of a cupful of sugar and one half of a teaspoonful of salt to one cupful of scalded milk. When mixture is lukewarm add one yeast cake dissolved in one fourth of a cupful of lukewarm milk, one egg well beaten, flour to make a stiff batter and one half cupful of raisins, stoned and cut in pieces. Cover and let rise until light. Spread in buttered dripping pan, having dough one half inch thick. Cover and again let rise. Just before putting into oven brush over with beaten egg and cover with the following mixture: Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter and add one third of a cupful of sugar mixed with one teaspoonful of cinnamon. When sugar is partially melted add three tablespoonfuls of flour.

To Wash Flannels.

Flannels should be washed in warm water that have had a little ammonia added to them. The flannels should be rubbed between the hands, not on a board, and dipped up and down in the suds until they are free from dirt and stains. Squeeze them with the hands until as much water as possible is removed, and then rinse in water of the same temperature as that in which they were washed. Wring out again, hang in the shade, and press them out on the wrong side while still damp. Flannels should never be placed in the sun to dry or they will shrink. Special care should also be taken when rubbing the garments to see that all the dirt is removed before they are wrung out and hung up to dry.

Simple Frocks for Small Girls.

Shepherd plaids in black and white, and blue and white, are always good for children's frocks, when enlivened by a bit of color, and when properly handled have a delightfully childish and simple air.

Some smart little models in this material have suits of patent leather, and the accompanying scarf of these dresses, which are nearly always made up in Russian or sailor effect, are either black or red.

THE LATEST FADS IN JEWELRY

Owing to the short sleeves of the summer gowns Bracelets will be worn more than ever, the broad bands, both plain and engraved and many pieces with the large colored stones take the lead in this necessary piece of jewelry.

The latest style of dressing the hair demands the back comb again and very neat effects are shown in the gold (raid with brilliants, also the all brilliant. In order to have the good effect these stones should be of the very best, as nothing looks so cheap as a poor brilliant. Large lockets—oval, round and odd shapes are still worn on the 20-inch and very long chains.

Festoons and lavallieres are not worn. The 16 and 18 inch chain supporting the neck but rich pendant, set with pearls, corals or colored stones, is quite the proper neck piece.

Sterling Silver Bar Pins with hard enamel fronts in dainty colors, will be used instead of brooches. Hat Pins have much smaller tops and can be found in silver and gold heads, with and without stone settings. Belt Pins in silver are particularly attractive. Mesh Bags will be more popular than ever, still the medium size black Hand Bag will find its favor with all the ladies.

An' he's as big as the Pleece-man is— He's big as G.W., an' he's got a great big club that he could whip Right on your head as like as not.

Why yesterday I runned away— Or wanted to—until I crossed That street where all the railroads meet.

An' I think that I know I'm lost! An' so I cried, but just hush— I'm sorry for my mamma then— She's feel so bad if Santa Claus Don't find me when he comes again.

An' just right while I'm cryin' there, An' that big Pleece-man come, he did.

An' laugh an' say that he declare If here ain't Mister Wilson's kid! An' I was scared! But he took hold My hand an' said I was the best! Some stories, till we found our street.

The Pleece-man he has eyes that squint All up in wrinkles when he grins, An' he just put my head an' pinch My cheek—An' he's got two-three chins.

An' you can't imagine, but it's true, 'Cause long I wasn't 'frail, an' then I notice him until I knew That Pleece-mans is the same as me!

No when my mamma see me, why she hug me up as close an' tight, An' that big Pleece-man say: "Good-by."

I've told at home, mummy! It's all right.

No now I'm not afraid to walk Up to him like I was before An' say: "How'do," an' almost talk: I'm not afraid of him no more.

CANE VS. FRUIT SUGAR.

It is best to satisfy the natural craving for sweets with fruits rather than with cane sugar and candles made from cane sugar and corn glucose. The injury done by cane sugar is not great when vigorous physical exercise makes a natural demand for soluble carbon, as experiments in the German army have shown, but when it is mixed with other foods the results are after serious, especially in the sedentary. A large per cent. of the food should be grape sugar, as it exists in prunes, bananas, dates, figs, raisins and apples. The starch in cereals is liable to ferment, before it can be converted into glucose or sugar, and it is not the best source of carbon, which maintains heat and energy.

To Stop Bleeding at the Nose.

Introduce by means of a probe a small piece of lint or soft cotton, previously dipped into some mild styptic, as a solution of alum, white vitriol, crotonate, or even cold water. This will generally prove successful, but if it should fail, cold water may be snuffed up the nostrils. If these remedies fail, and if the bleeding be very profuse, medical advice should be obtained.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—And John Dimpkins had spent his last cent to rent that dress suit.

The BRONZE BELL

BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE
AUTHOR OF "THE BRASS BOWL" ETC.
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WATKINS

The hair lifted on his scalp and he swallowed hard in the effort to answer; but the lie stuck in his throat; he was not Rutton and . . . it is very hard to be effectively when you stand in stark darkness with a mouth dry as dust and your hair stirring at the roots because of the intensely impersonal and aloof accents of an inhuman bell-voice, tolling away out of nowhere.

"Who is there?"

Again he failed to answer. Somewhere near him he heard a slight noise as of a man moving impatiently; and then a whisper: "Respond, thou fool!"

"Art thou come, O chosen of the Gateway?" the bell-voice rang.

"I . . . I am come," Amber managed to reply.

"Hear ye?" rang the bell. "Hear ye, O lords and rulers in Medhyama! O children of my Gateway, hear ye well! He is come! He stands upon the threshold of the Gateway."

A great drum roared like the crack of doom; and Amber's jaw dropped. For in the high roof of the temple a six-foot slab had been noiselessly withdrawn, and through it a cold shaft of moonlight fell, cutting the gloom like a granite rapier, and smote with its luminous radiance the true Gateway of Swords.

Not six paces from him it leaped out of the darkness in an iridescent sheen; an arch a scant ten feet in height, and in span double the width of a big man's shoulders, woven across like a weaver's frame with ribbons of pale fire. But the ribbons were of steel—steel blades, sharp, bright, gleaming. With their pommels cunningly affixed so that their points touched and interlaced, yet swung free, they lined the piers of the arch from base to span and all the graceful sweep of the intrados, a curtain of shimmering, trembling steel, barring the way to the mystery beyond. Which was—darkness.

"O ye sword!" bellowed the voice. "O ye sword that have known no dishonor! O ye sword that have sung in the grasp of my greatest! Swords of Jehanar, Akbar, Alamgir! Swords of Aladdin, Humayun, Shah Jehan! Swords of Timur-Leng, Arungzeb, Rao Rutton!"

The invocation seemed interminable. Amber recognized almost every name noted in the annals and legends of Hindustan.

"Hearken, O my sword! He, thy chosen, prayeth for entry! What is thy welcome?"

One by one the blades began to shiver, clashing their neighbors until the curtain of steel glimmered and glistened like phosphorescence in a summer sea, and the place was filled with the music of their contact; and through their clamor boomed the bell: "O my chosen!" Amber started and held himself firmly in hand. "Look well, look well! Here is thy portal to kingdom and glory!"

He frowned and took a step forward as if he would thrust himself through the archway; for he had suddenly remembered with compelling vividness that Sophia Parrell was to be won only by that passage. But as he

"If thy heart, O my chosen, be clean, unswayed with fear and guile; if thy faith be the faith of thy fathers and thy honor rooted in love of thy land; if thou hast faith in the strength of thy hands to hold the reins of empire . . . enter, having no fear."

"Trickwork," he told himself. He set his teeth with determination. "Hope they don't see fit to cut me to pieces on suspicion. Here goes!" He moved forward with a firm step until his bosom all but touched the points. Instantaneously, with another clash as of cymbals, the blades were deflected and returned to their first position, closing the way. He hesitated. Then, "That shaft's stop me!" he said through his teeth, and pushed forward, heart in mouth. He breathed the curtain and felt it give; the blades yielded jealously, closing round his body like cold, caressing arms; he felt their chill kisses on his cheeks and hands, even through his clothing he was conscious of their clinging, deadly touch. Abruptly they swung entirely free, leaving the entrance clear, and he was drawing a free breath when the moon glare showed him the sword returned to position with the speed of light. He jumped for his life and escaped being slashed to pieces by the barest inch. They swung to behind him; and again the drum roared, while afar there arose a furious, eddying walling of conchies. Overhead the opening disappeared and the light was shut out. In darkness as of the Hall of Eblis the conches were still, and the echoes ebbed into a silence that held away for many minutes ere again the bell spoke.

"Stretch forth thy hand."

Somewhat shaken, Amber held out an open palm before him. Then out of nothingness something plopped into Amber's hand and his fingers closed convulsively about it. It was a small, very small, as a child's, shaggy and hard as steel and cold as ice.

Without any forewarning two heavy hands gripped him, one on either shoulder, and he was forced to his knees. At the same instant, with a snapping crackle a spurt of blue flame shot down from the zenith, and where it fell with a thunderclap a dazzling glare of emerald light shot up breast-high.

To his half-blinded eyes it seemed, for a time, to dance suspended in the air before him. A vapor swirled up from it, a thin cloud, luminous. By degrees he made out its source, a small, brazen bowl on a tripod.

In front of him he could see nothing beyond the noiselessly wavering flame. But presently a hand appeared, as if by magic, above the bowl—a hand, bony, brown and long of finger, that seemed attached to nothing—and cast something like a powder into the fire. There followed a fizz and puff of vapor, and a strong and heavy gust of incense was wafted into Amber's face. Again and again the hand appeared, sprinkling powder in the brazier, until the smoke clouded the atmosphere with its fluent, eddying coils.

The goodfellow that had picked out on Amber's skin subsided, and his quail went with it. "Great fire burning in the bowl," he explained the phenomenon; "and a native with his arm wrapped to the wrist in black is feeding it. Not a bad effect, though."

It was, perhaps, as well that he had not been deceived, for there was a horror to come that required all his strength to face. He became conscious that something was moving between him and the brazier—something which he had incuriously assumed to be a piece of dirty cloth left there carelessly. But now he saw it stir, agitate, and upend, unfolding itself and lifting its head to the leaping flame; an immense cobra, sleek and white as ivory, its swelling hood as large as a man's two hands, with a bilinear mark on it as yellow as topaz and with vicious eyes glowing like twin rubies in its vile little head.

Amber's breath clicked in his throat and he shrank back, rising; but this instinctive move had been provided against and before his knees were fairly off the rocky floor he was forced down again by the hands on his shoulders. He was unable to take his eyes from the monster, and though terror such as man is heir to lay cold upon his heart, he did not again attempt to stir.

There was no sound. Alone and undisturbed the bleached viper warmed to its dance with the pulsing flame, turning, and twisting, weaving and writhing in its infernal glide.

"Hear ye, O my people!"

Amber jumped. The voice had seemed to ring out from a point directly overhead.

He looked up and discovered above him, vague in the obscurity, the outlines of a gigantic bell, hanging motionless. The green glare, shining on its rim and partly illuminating the empty hollow (the new no clapper) revealed the sheen of bronze of which it was fashioned.

Out of its immense bowl, the voice rolled like thunder:

"Hear ye, O my people!"

A responsive murmur ascended from the company round the walls.

"We hear! We hear, O Medhyama!"

"Mark well this man, O children of my Gateway. Mark well! Out of ye all I have chosen him to lead thee in the work of healing; for I thy mother, I Medhyama, I Bharuta, I the body from which ye are sprung, call me by whatever name ye know me—I am laid low with a great sickness."

Yes, I am stricken and laid low with a sickness."

In the brazier the flame leaped high and subsided, and with it the cobra leaped and sank low upon its coils.

"I, thine old mother, have called ye together to help in my healing. From my feet to my head I am eaten with pestilence; yes, I am devoured and possessed by the evil. From of old was it thus with thy mother; long since she complained of the plague that is Scarlet—moaned and cried, and turned in her misery."

But ye failed me. Then my people were weaklings and their hearts all very craven; the Scarlet Evil dismayed them; they fled from its power and left it to batten on me in my sickness."

A deep groan welled in uncounted throats and resounded through the cavern.

"Will ye fail me again, O my children?"

"Nay, nay, O our mother!"

"Too long have I suffered and been patient in silence. Now I must be cleansed and made whole as of old time; yes, I must be purged altogether and the evil cast out of me. It is time. . . . Ye have heard, have ye not? make ready, for the day of the cleansing approaches. When thy swords for the days of the boiling, for my cleansing can be but

SHE SUFFERED FIVE YEARS

Finally Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eric, Pa. "I suffered for five years from female troubles and at last was almost helpless. I went to three doctors and they did me no good, so my sister advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I had taken only two bottles I could see a big change. I took six bottles and I am now strong and well again. I don't know how to express my thanks for the good it has done me and I hope all suffering women will give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It was worth its weight in gold."—Mrs. J. K. ESTIMACH, R. F. D. No. 7, Erie, Pa.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and are on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass. From women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaint, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it is free and always helpful.

by steel. Yes, thy sword shall do away with the evil, and the land shall run red with the blood of Bharuta, the blood of thy mother; it shall run to the sea as a river, bearing with it the Red Evil. So and no other shall I thine old mother, be healed and made whole again."

Amber was watching the serpent-dance and weary as it with a great need of sleep. Even the salve of shouts came to him as from a great distance. To the clangor of the bell alone he had become abnormally sensitive. Every hue of his being standardized, responsive to the weird nuances.

It returned to its solemn and stately intoning.

"Of ye all have I chosen and fixed upon one who shall lead ye through this evil, and a difficult, but I hope not impossible, way. He shall be known to ye as the one who shall lead ye down and up his hill. . . . Ye are pledged. Will ye have him, my children?"

"We do Confound."

For Catarrh

Medicine Price in Every Case With It. It Kills the Bacteria.

Need not be purchased. We believe in the greatest remedy the public has to combat with when applied to the base of the urinary tract. Practically every case of catarrh of the bladder has been cured if hope had been unshaken and proper treatment had been resorted to at the first symptoms of the disease. With the advanced stage is reached, cure is impossible. Catarrh is responsible, we believe, for many cases of consumption. It is a great enemy we want to kill to you today. Incidentally, consumption, since we are so closely allied.

We have a medicine made from a prescription of one of the most successful catarrh cures known. We insist it is a positive remedy. An agent, we are so satisfied that we are ready that we will supply the medicine free in every instance where it is used according to directions for a responsible person of time, should it fail to cure, we will refund every cent. We want every one to try this medicine at once. There are no conditions attached to our offer. We put the case under no obligation as to what we do.

The medicine we want you to try is called "Mucic Acid." It is a natural remedy that does not harm the body. It is a powerful antiseptic and it is a powerful cathartic. It is a powerful remedy for all catarrhs of the bladder, and it is a powerful remedy for all catarrhs of the prostate. It is a powerful remedy for all catarrhs of the ureters, and it is a powerful remedy for all catarrhs of the kidneys. It is a powerful remedy for all catarrhs of the bladder, and it is a powerful remedy for all catarrhs of the prostate. It is a powerful remedy for all catarrhs of the ureters, and it is a powerful remedy for all catarrhs of the kidneys.

Good to Remember. Periodically the newspapers print glowing accounts of some one who has cut down the amount of food necessary to maintain life to where it looks like a crack in the plate before him, then he buries it in a hole and with a quick jerk and reminded that the other man's horse suddenly kicked the bucket.

Dog Forsook His Chum. Police officers were astonished by the loud howling of a dog to the rescue of another dog that had fallen into the river at Yarmouth, England. The second animal was saved, and the first when refused to leave the policemen, and spent the night at the station.

RUPTURE

Its Cured Without the Knife and Without Pain. Doing Away With Your Truss Forever.

Rupture or Hernia or Breach as it is sometimes called may show itself at different places in the body, thus it may occur at the navel, at the femoral ring, the bowel descending down the inner side of the thigh, or the most common through the inguinal canal on either side of the pubic bone in the groins.

Rupture may be caused by a great many different causes, such as over lifting, straining at stool, severe coughing, blows on the abdomen, or from severe crying in infancy.

Rupture is an insidious disease—that is it gradually grows worse from day to day and from month to month, without attracting the particular attention of the victim, until it has reached a severe condition. And the sufferer who makes no attempt to check its growth awakes finally to the fact that he or she is in a serious condition.

Remember all his ruptures were little ruptures once, hence the importance of attending to these matters at their beginning.

Eight out of every ten ruptures can be cured without operation or the use of the knife. Two out of every ten can be cured only by a surgical operation.

The method which I have used so successfully for the past ten years in curing rupture is accomplished by the injection of a few drops of a healing and curative fluid into the tissues. This simple and painless procedure causes a growth of natural tissue which seals up the torn rupture opening and replaces the torn in the muscle and are cured tissue. In fact, after you have taken your treatment and are cured you will be stronger and more solid than you are on the other side of the treated side is absolutely impossible.

In the last few years certain physicians have been experimenting with hot paraffin or wax as an injection but this method up to the present time has not been a success, first because the body rejects the introduction of a foreign substance into the tissues and secondly because the wax is liable to break up on becoming hard and leave the patient in worse shape than ever. And I want to warn you right here, beware of the Doctor who promises to cure you in one treatment; for he will use the paraffin method. If this way of curing rupture had proved a success I should be using it today, but such is not the case.

The method I use has been exclusively used by Dr. E. D. Potter, of New York, the leading specialist in this country in the cure of rupture for the past twenty years and he as well as myself have scores of letters from people whom we have cured to prove our claims. And I have several among my collection from people right here in Janesville.

These treatments are practically painless and do not interfere with you in the pursuit of your daily occupation. There is no suffering and above all this treatment gives you a perfect lasting cure for all time without your being confined to your bed for a single minute. And it cures you safely.

You may say to yourself: "My rupture does not bother me, I have a truss that holds it in place, why should I bother to have it treated?"

The first and best reason why you should not allow such a condition to exist is that you never can tell when through a slip or a fall or a sudden strain, your rupture is liable to come down and become fast or strangulated. When such a thing does happen it means that if this condition is not relieved by operation in 48 hours, more or less, gangrene, or a rotting of the bowel will take place and you will die.

If you will look through the death lists of any city you will be surprised to see how many people die each year from such causes, and sad to say simply because they have put off having their ruptures cured.

Secondly any man or woman who has a rupture is in reality only half what they should be in strength or vigor. Such a condition not only impairs your life and happiness, but it lessens your earning power, for a ruptured person is held from doing many things they otherwise could do if well. I do not think I need mention also the annoyance and misery suffered by those who wear trusses. If you are a slave to a truss or other appliance you know what it would mean to be rid of this torture forever.

In regard to cases which I accept for treatment, I want you to distinctly understand that I do not under any circumstances accept incurable cases for treatment. No case do I take for treatment unless I know positively that I can cure to stay cured, for in every case I do accept for treatment I give you a written, legal guarantee to cure or refund every cent you have paid me.

After I have examined you I will tell you frankly and truthfully whether you can be cured by this method without operation, about how long it will take for a perfect cure and the cost. If I find that I cannot cure you I will frankly tell you so and advise you where and when you can best be operated.

I operate on a great many that can not be cured otherwise, but as I have said eight out of every ten can be cured without an operation. If to satisfy yourself that what I state is true and you wish to investigate my claims I will gladly give you the names of many right here in this state, some in Janesville whom you may ask or write and they will tell you just what I have done for them. Can you ask any stronger proof? Many, not all, of my cured cases have given me the privilege to refer to them in this way.

The cost of my treatment depends of course upon the severity of the case. No matter what your age may be, nor how long you have had your rupture, or what you have done in trying to get cured, if it is not too bad a case it can be cured. I have treated and cured children of two years of age and men over eighty years old.

To sum up here are the advantages of being cured by my method: You can take your treatment without losing any time from your work.

You do not have to leave home and go to a hospital.

You do not have to take any chloroform or ether.

You suffer no pain.

You take no chances of your rupture returning, you are cured to stay cured.

You have no expense of a hospital.

Your treatment is sure and safe.

You are protected by a written guarantee.

If you have a rupture or if you are interested, on account of any member of your family or friend come and see me and I will tell you what can be done.

Such a visit will cost you nothing but your time and may be the means of your getting rid of this annoying condition for the balance of your life.

I do not claim anything I cannot prove and I do prove everything I claim.

If you cannot call personally write to me at Milwaukee and your letter will receive my personal attention.

My charges are reasonable and within the reach of all, and I am always willing and glad to make terms of payments suitable to your financial condition.

If you have delayed being cured on account of the financial end of the matter do so no longer, but come and see what I can do. I am sure we can make terms satisfactory to us both.

And I can assure you that if you take my treatment and are cured you will never regret either the time or money spent in getting well. Consultation free.

I shall be at the Myers Hotel Tuesday, April 25th, and every four weeks thereafter. Kindly call before 5:30 P. M.

Cleansing Him. "I'm just one of the plain people, sir," said the demagogue to the gifted orator. The latter looked him over. "It strikes me," he said, "that you are plain enough to be in a little class by yourself."

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Gazette, April 19, 1871. Logging on Rock River. The Milwaukee News in its "State Items" informs the people that "nearly or unto 60,000,000 feet of logs have already come down the Rock River this season, and that there are 50,000,000 feet more to come, which makes the total amount 110,000,000 feet." A dozen or more years ago larger quantities of lumber floated down Rock River, but of late years not a raft or log has been seen in its waters, to our knowledge, and we have lived nineteen years on its banks. Brief Items. Our baseball club has given no information of life this season, it contains good material if rightly managed, and it should not give up the field without another effort. The board of education have elected Wm. A. Lawrence president. No decision yet on secretary. There is a dim prospect of having the streets of this city lighted by gas. A heavy rain fell last night, accompanied by wind and electrical discharge. Business has been at a standstill today. The farmers are all at work. The prevalence of wind during the present month is unusual. Scarcely a day or night has passed without a violent stirring up of the atmosphere.
